For less than the cost of a single conference, picture book writers and illustrators can become members of 12 x 12 and get access to all the benefits of a writer's conference -- learning from experts, craft advice and assistance, the fellowship of community and the opportunity to submit completed, polished manuscripts -- without having to travel. You'll get the motivation and accountability you need to get those drafts finished, all with the support of the friendliest writing community on earth.

12 x 12 is a global community, open 24 hours a day, 365 days a year.

If you join, you will be encouraged and supported as you attempt to write one picture book draft a month, AND to revise one and submit one manuscript as additional, optional goals. There will of course be more outstanding featured authors giving away fabulous prizes that will help you in your craft. All members will be able to join the 12 x 12 Facebook page, which serves as a support network, a question and answer pool, and a place to share resources. PLUS we have a brand new online forum, upgraded from the 2013 version, where members can share information and critique each other's work.

Here are the three membership levels for 2014, including the features for each.

Margaret Wise BRONZE -- Write.

In the great big Internet, there is a writing group, where folks commune, and write picture books like -- A Dog Jamming on the Bassoon...

If what you need is the motivation to get your drafts written, along with the accountability of a deadline and the company of a community of writers dedicated to improving their craft, this level is for you!

Margaret Wise BRONZE includes:

Full access (view and post) to the Main 12 x 12 Forum and Critique Connect (where you can find critique partners)

Access to the members-only 12 x 12 Facebook Group
Ability to view the Events, Member Books, Videos/Trailers and Help An Author Out (HAAO) sections of the 12 x 12 Forum
Opportunity to win craft-related prizes from the monthly featured authors
